MEDICINAL.

A FALSE FACE.

When dyspepsia fastens on a man it changes his feelings and it changes his looks. He grows now instead of miling. His expression is harsh instead of kindly. He is wearing a false face—a face which does injustice to the real nobility of his nature.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, and the record of the cure is written both in the face and the feelings of the person cured.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is not a stimulant or temporary tonic. It cures the diseases that are the cause of ill-health and builds up the body with sound flesh.

"Accept no substitute for 'Golden Medical Discovery.'" The sole motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

"Last spring, early, I wrote you my feelings and condition," says Mr. A. J. Vanderwater, of West Division, Chicago, Ill., "and you advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and then write how I felt. I am happy to say I am getting to feel fine. In all I have taken six bottles of the 'Discovery' and four or five vials of the 'Pellies.' They have done me worlds of good. All my friends say: 'Vanderwater, how well you are looking.' The medicines have made the great change in me: from the slow mope of a man that could hardly crawl, tired and sick all the time, could do no work to a man who can work, sleep, eat, and feel fine, and that tired feeling all gone away. I am very thankful that I wrote to Dr. Pierce. His 'Golden Medical Discovery' and his little liver 'Pellies' have almost made a new man of me. I feel young as I did at thirty years."

WORK OF NEGRO OFFICIALS.

BLACKS AMPLY PROVIDED—WHITE SUPERVISORS KEPT IN THE BACKGROUND.

A secret meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday afternoon to hear the report of W. R. Corwin concerning the distribution of supplies in Martinique. M. de Meudul of the French Chamber of Commerce, was present at the meeting. Previously to attending the session M. de Meudul spoke freely of the methods of distributing the provisions sent to the islands by the United States government and the chambers of commerce.

M. de Meudul bitterly attacked the authorities of Martinique for their administration of public affairs in general and their system or lack of system in distributing the supplies sent for the relief of the stricken people of the island. He has just returned from Martinique, where he went as the envoy of the French Chamber of Commerce of New York, taking with him 22,000 francs in gold for the relief of the Mont Pelée sufferers.

"The French government," said he, "is partly to blame for the wretched conditions which followed the catastrophe of May 8. The island is practically under negro government, the great majority of officials being negroes. While political factions subdivide themselves into whites and blacks, the blacks are in so much greater numbers that they practically control all public offices."

"Almost all of the blacks are uneducated and unscrupulous, and the events which followed the destruction of St. Pierre proved it conclusively. The authorities were so busy insuring the reelection of all the negro officials that they would not bother about sending relief to St. Pierre."

"St. Pierre, it must be explained, was the stronghold of the anti-negro party. The elections were to be held on May 10. The governor was too busy electioneering for the defeat of Clerc, the anti-negro candidate of the northern department of the island, to send help to St. Pierre."

"Contrary to all that has been published on the subject, the inhabitants of St. Pierre were not stricken dead instantaneously. For two days the half-choked and half-burned survivors were left writhing in the streets in agony and crying for help that came not."

"The governor is a negro, and it was under his supervision that the work of distributing supplies was begun."

"If the French government had sent at once a commission of men vested with supreme authority to direct the method of distributing the supplies and provisions the trouble which followed would not have happened. The central committee of Fort de France which received requests from the mayors of the various towns for provisions divided these requests in two classes, those coming from townships which had polled strong negro majorities and those where the vote cast had been to the credit of the candidate of the whites. These last townships were blacklisted and where the negro towns were supplied with flour and bread ad libitum the white towns were succored grudgingly, and after long and terrible periods of waiting."

"In Fort de France the white people in line for a distribution of food were made to wait hours, while the blacks received rations over and over. In many instances the articles given to the white sufferers were a superb irony of the distributions. Shoes were given where bread was asked, and the discretionary powers of the distributing officers were utilized for the humiliating of the whites and the fattening of the blacks."

"The white planters and mill owners of the island protested to the governor. They suggested that they were in need of laborers and that, instead of feeding the idle population, it might be better to feed the hungry to them to have them earn the supplies given for their relief. The distribution of supplies has demoralized them all. In many instances they have quit work, finding it easier to go to the distributing offices to be fed. The negro distributors were so arrogant that a number of white sufferers have refused to present themselves at the stations. I tried to help all of this class that I could."

"The apathy of the authorities after the catastrophe of St. Pierre is the most abominable phase of the entire situation. Those who had entered the town three days after the eruption have told me that the cries of the dying were even then heard in the streets. How many of the St. Pierre inhabitants died this horrible slow death is impossible to ascertain."

"Two soldiers from Balata have personally told me of their entering the city on May 10, and of hearing the groans and shrieks of those entombed alive or crippled by fire."

DANGEROUS IF NEGLECTED.

Burns, cuts and wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yanketown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits. For sale by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

MEDICINAL.

More Harmful Than Alcohol

Overeating Worst Form of Intemperance.

If your food is undigested, you are underfed, no matter how much you eat. And the underfed man is, to the extent of the underfeeding, crippled for the battle of life. On the other hand, there is such a thing as overeating. The harm done by indigestion caused by overloaded stomachs exceeds that from the increased heart beats caused by the use of alcohol or whiskey.

But as much good food as you need but don't overload the stomach. If your stomach is weak it may refuse to digest what you eat. Then you ought to use a good digestant like Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat without the stomach's aid. This rest and the wholesome tonics contained in Kodol Dyspepsia Cure soon restore health. You don't have to diet. Don't eat too much. That's harmful. But eat enough and of sufficient variety. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest it. It quickly relieves the sensation of fullness and bloating from which some people suffer after meals. It prevents belching and absolutely cures indigestion and other stomach troubles. Equally good for children.

Lemuel James, Marysville, O., says: "I suffered from dyspepsia for thirty years but a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure completely cured me and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from this disease."

STORE NEWS.

Tackett, Baker & Co.

JUST LISTEN

A MOMENT

What the People Say.

Scarcely a day but what we hear some one say "so and so told us what a nice store you had, and really we find it a pleasure to deal here. Everything so free and easy, goods so nicely displayed, such a variety of all kinds, no matter how good, no matter how cheap, and this is just what we need in Alexandria—an up-to-date, wide awake store." When we meet Tackett, Baker & Co. in the subject of such conversation in the houses of this city we know very well that our efforts to please are not in vain. We want every patron of this store to come again and if anything occurs which is in the least unpleasant please report it and we will be happy to make amends. We feel dependent upon the people of this city, and our business must be conducted upon the most liberal principles of justice and fair dealing, and we have said before every statement we make is a sacred pledge to the public, and whatever you get here, must be reasonably satisfactory or we buy it back for what you paid. We propose to keep up the high standard of this store's reputation, but we have made many changes and added many new lines, and our stock of medium and low price goods, together with our finer grades, gives us a most complete stock, so that we have calls for but few goods which we cannot show.
